

New Possibilities for Clearfield® Growers

ASIDE from the possibility of new Clearfield® crop varieties around the corner growers might also start revising their chemical strategies.

Currently registered products on these crops contain the actives Imazapic and Imazapyr.

However some farmers in WA with more acid soil types have been concerned with the possibility of residues of Imazapyr carrying over and affecting susceptible crops.

Many farmers have expressed interest in using only Imazapic which is believed will cover a similar weed spectrum without the problems of carry over. Particularly since cheaper generic sources, like 4Farmers, have become available.

Unfortunately Imazapic alone presently has limited registrations for WA usage that don't include any major crops.

There is new end use legislation being introduced in WA that allows for more flexible use of pesticides. It's a possibility that this might legitimise Imazapic in this instance however is yet to be confirmed.

Please contact 4Farmers if you would like to discuss further.

Beware of Cheap Substitutes

BUYER beware! What the label says is in the drum is not what the product always is as 4Farmers has exposed.

Interesting isn't it?

Remember the Bad Old Days

FINDING this old container of Metsulfuron purchased for $598/0.5kg was a reminder of the bad old days of high chemical prices.

And this is after Metsulfuron started getting cheap!! The typical price at the time 4Farmers entered the market was up to $650/0.5kg. 4Farmers entry price was $400/0.5kg. A reduction of 38% in price!

On the back of the current 4Front newsletter (free copy available from 4Farmers) is a list of 38 other chemicals aside from Metsulfuron illustrating the reduction in price between 4Farmers entry price and the current market at that time.

The average reduction in price of those 4Farmers products was approximately 35%.

4Farmers continues today to significantly reduce chemical prices to make them more affordable to farmers. Some recent registered products that we have introduced at lower prices are Imazapic 240, LVE MCPA/Diflufenican, Imidacloprid and Imazethapyr.

Plus 4Farmers has a wide range of other broadacre products with low prices and top quality.
