

Propyzamide beats Resistant Ryegrass

PROPYZAMIDE continues to demonstrate exciting potential in an integrated strategy to economically control ryegrass resistant to all other herbicides.

It's only registration presently in broadacre is for a range of grasses that Propyzamide has traditionally been restricted to horticulture uses due to its high cost. Presently in broadacre its only registration is for a range of grasses in legume pastures. Trials in crops like Canola have been encouraging and suggest grain residues low enough that will possibly gain registration in the future.

For best efficacy, like many herbicides, good moisture conditions are important. It has also generally worked better applied pre-emergent, and incorporated in a strategy with other chemicals like Atrazine.

4Farmers is proud to be at the forefront providing Australian farmers with economical herbicide alternatives. 4Farmers are continuing to run a crazy "No Profit Special" on a limited amount of Propyzamide 500 with prices in the low $20's per unit for liquid and granules. Talk to 4Farmers quickly to secure your supply.
